Personal Experience

- (Retired) President, Standardbred Horse Sales Co. 2004 - 2021; Vice President, Hanover Shoe Farms. 2004 – 2019. Member of Hanover Mare Booking Committee.
- Windsong Stable - 1997 to present. Raise and sell about 10 yearlings each year.
- Breeder of: 2004 Trotting Triple Crown winner Windsong's Legacy; 2003 Aged Trotter of the Year Rotation; #6 US stallion Swan For All, sire of World Champion Hannelore Hanover; Indiana sire Swan In A Million; Ohio sires Long Tom (sire of World Champion Rumble Strips 2, 1:53.2h) and In Range; Illinois sire Get Legs; Finnish sire P J Punjab; Swedish/Danish mare stars Swept to Victory and Bring Me Luck US.

What Does Windsong Do?

- Elite racing broodmare prospects with top sires and elite families have been generally too expensive for me.
- Search for productive maternal families with multiple superior racing performers along the tail-female line.
- Accept a less commercially attractive broodmare sire, especially if that broodmare sire is an outcross to popular commercial stallions.
 - Prakas: Yankee Windsong, Expressway Hanover
 - Earl: Bax Machine
 - Lindy Lane: Swan Lake, Polyester Hanover
 - Glidemaster: Oh My Darlin, Monroe County
 - Amigo Hall: Legzy
 - Lucky Chucky: A List Lindy

What Does Windsong Do?

- Must accept that the marketplace seldom immediately rewards the breeder with high prices for yearlings from non-elite mares.
 - Productive performer must often emerge before I am rewarded.
- Buy broodmares from highly productive families.
 - Superior racehorses from the first and second dams.
 - Good performers from older families often less expensive.
 - In my experience, breeding the single standout performer from a mediocre family has often been unsuccessful.
- Mares with acute but minor injuries are often good buys, with proper veterinary examination.

What Does Windsong Do?

- Prefer broodmares with favorable line breeding or even in-breeding. In-bred mares can be special producers: my very best mares often have serial in-breeding over several generations.
- If broodmare does not have special favorable line breeding, I prefer outcrossed pedigrees that reflect successful “Golden Crosses”, or “Nicks”.
 - This strategy is most successful if sire and broodmare sire are well established. May look at “golden crosses” to grand sire or grand broodmare sire for young sires, but results are likely less predictive.
- Maternal line breeding to prominent broodmare sires that were not successful sires of sires can be a bonus, as this may interfere less with sire line choices.
- Look for prominent females in maternal family: Yankee Duchess, Allegro, B Js Pleasure / Matina Hanover, and Misty Hanover are special favorites.

What Does Windsong Do?

- Bonus if maternal lines go directly to prominent or “foundation” mares: Margaret Parrish, Medio, Nervolo Belle / Mambrino Beauty
- A mare by a less popular sire may have more outcross sire line opportunities, resulting in more stallion alternatives, and greater opportunity to focus on conformation issues.
- I will seldom buy a maiden mare unless she has at least 4-5 obvious and attractive commercial stallion prospects, from at least 2 major sire lines. You must research the possibilities BEFORE you buy!
- Commercially, the best value is usually with maiden mares as first foals often bring good prices. A mare that has already produced successful offspring becomes expensive to buy.
- A mare that has unsuccessful offspring will not usually sell her next yearlings well: a full sibling to a failed first foal is often sold for at least 40% less at auction.

Common Breeding Mistakes

- A race mare with no talent: “She’s no good on the racetrack. I might as well breed her.”
- Breeding an expensive stallion to a cheap mare: “Forget her poor racetrack performance and the lack of production in her family. This top stallion will produce a big winner with her.”
- A mare who has produced nothing from multiple foals: “She is due for a good foal. I will breed her again, maybe even to a more expensive stallion.”
- A yearling with low commercial value from an unattractive mare: “He won’t sell for anything, so I might as well train him myself.”

3rd dam is Yankee Duchess, key to maternal families of Muscle Hill, Yankee Glide, Windsong's Legacy, Diesel Don, Fox Valley Flan, etc.

Prakas is the broodmare sire of Windsong's two top horses, Windsong's Legacy and Rotation.

Mating was done mostly because of physical and temperament factors.
